What led you into Unitarian Universalism? What inspired you to take on this leadership role (clergy or lay)? What keeps you involved?

How does social justice figure in your vision of yourself as a UU leader? Can you share an example of your own experiencing injustice – or experiencing justice – that motivates you? Who or what especially inspires you?

What makes involvement in social justice work a sustainable, life-long, “core” part of a congregation’s faith expression, rather than an activity relegated to a small group?

What discourages you or other members of our congregations from involvement social justice ministry, engagement with public policy, and the legislative process? What holds you back from deeper engagement?

As you think of effective justice ministry, and what it means to be a faithful UU, what values, attitudes, skills and behaviors do we want to embody and impart to our children and youth?

What support do you want as a leader in your community? What support do you ask for and receive? How can we support and sustain one another, within and among our UU congregations, in the struggle for social justice?

What kinds of training, mentoring or other kinds of assistance would help you, your clergy or lay leadership to sustain effective, meaningful social justice ministries?

What are the justice issues that are most important to you personally?
